Frankie Hargreaves

An aspiring beekeeper hailing from a small village of 400 people, Frankie grew up on a hog farm in south-western Manitoba. From a young age she showed a keen interest in using art as a tool of self-expression, first starting with pencil sketching and eventually finding her way to watercolors at the age of 17.

Nature is the primary inspiration for her art as well as her life-long fascination with folklore; she often incorporates both in her artwork to tell stories that have been nearly forgotten with the passage of time. Bold and contrasting shades are a distinguishable feature of her art as well as odd but beautiful subject matter.

Frankie loves spending time with her husband, Andrew and her angry chihuahua, Gulliver. If you ever want to find her, check your local hiking trails where she will likely be found with a bird book and binoculars in hand.
